

Immunization Information System Functional Standards Version 4.2 Resource Guide

This document lists primary resources associated with the IIS Functional Standards v 4.1. The resources were created collaboratively and vetted with the immunization information systems (IIS) community unless otherwise noted. These resources may be useful to inform efforts to create or enhance IIS functionality related to the Functional Standards.

Resources Related to the Functional Standards

Formal guidance does not currently exist for all Functional Standards. The table below categorizes available guidance as either introductory or advanced/technical. Note that the resource list is not exhaustive, and individual IIS needs and solutions may vary.

The American Immunization Registry Association (AIRA) Resource Repository Key Words listed below will help locate additional content related to each Functional Standard in the AIRA Resource Repository. The AIRA Repository contains valuable resources for the IIS community, IIS vendors, health care providers, electronic health record (EHR) vendors, policy makers, funders, and others interested in IISs. AIRA Repository Search Tips describe the many ways to search and filter in the repository. Additional resources may be found in the Public Health Informatics Institute Resource Catalogue
